

Special Session of the 2022 Annual Conference

Monday, May 22, 2023 at 7:00 p.m. Online

UPDATE

The Consent Agenda and other important links for the May 22 special session are now available on the conference website at <https://twkumc.org/may-22-special-session>.

During the session, requests to speak and voting will be through an online portal that can only be accessed using an assigned voting code sent from GNTV. Voting Codes will be sent to eligible clergy and laity a few days before the May 22 meeting.

A live stream will be available so congregations can watch proceedings.

While the participation process will be the same as with the June 2022 annual conference, we encourage you to review how to use the online meeting portal. A tutorial video and other support materials are available on the GNTV website.

Those who were eligible to vote in the 2022 TWK Annual Conference last June are eligible to vote in the May conference unless:

- they have withdrawn their membership from the denomination.
- the church that elected them to serve was closed or disaffiliated at that conference.
- they would rather the alternate elected to replace would serve in their place. (If so, please contact your district office to make that change.)

If you have any questions about your eligibility to vote, please contact the TWK Conference Secretary Monica Mowdy at conference.secretary@twkumc.org
